

Complete this self-analysis at the beginning of your study of CASL, partway through, and then at the conclusion.

Scale:

- 0 I am uncertain about what this means.
- 1 Not at all: I don't or can't do this, or this doesn't happen in my classroom.
- 2 Beginning: I do this infrequently, or this happens infrequently in my classroom.
- 3 Partially: I do this sometimes, or this happens sometimes in my classroom.
- 4 Completely: I do this regularly, or this happens on an ongoing/as needed basis in my classroom.

Key 1: Clear Purpose	Rating 1/ Date:	Rating 2/ Date:	Rating 3/ Date:
I can identify the key users of classroom assessment information and work to meet their information needs.
I understand formative and summative assessment uses and know when to use each.
I understand the impact of formative assessment practices on student achievement.

Key 2: Clear Targets	Rating 1/ Date:	Rating 2/ Date:	Rating 3/ Date:
I can classify the learning targets I am teaching according to one of four types.
I know how to deconstruct broad content standards into classroom-level learning targets.
I base instruction and assessment on clear learning targets.
I translate learning targets into student-friendly language.

Key 3: Sound Design	Rating 1/ Date:	Rating 2/ Date:	Rating 3/ Date:
I know how to design or select assessments to serve intended formative and summative purposes.
I know how to select the appropriate method(s) to assess each type of learning target.
I create assessment plans to map the content of my assessments.
I understand and apply principles of sampling appropriately.
I can write and/or select assessment items, tasks, scoring guides, and rubrics that meet standards of quality.
I recognize and avoid sources of bias that can distort assessment results.
I know how to apply formative assessment practices within each assessment method.

Key 4: Effective Communication	Rating 1/ Date:	Rating 2/ Date:	Rating 3/ Date:
I offer students effective feedback during their learning.
I track student achievement by learning target.
I keep track of both formative and summative assessment information.
I record and combine summative assessment information to accurately reflect student achievement.
I calculate report card grades to accurately communicate level of individual student achievement at a point in time.
I participate in conferences as needed to discuss student progress.
I offer students effective feedback during their learning.

Key 5: Student Involvement	Rating 1/ Date:	Rating 2/ Date:	Rating 3/ Date:
My students can describe the learning targets they are to achieve.
My students can give each other effective feedback.
I design assessments with students' information needs in mind.
I have prepared my students to self-assess accurately and to set meaningful goals for further learning.
I give students opportunities to track, reflect on, and share their learning progress with others.

Overall reflection on first rating 1. I have the most knowledge and skill in these areas: 2. I want to work on these areas:
Overall reflection on second rating 1. I have the most knowledge and skill in these areas: 2. I want to work on these areas:
Overall reflection on third rating 1. I have the most knowledge and skill in these areas: 2. I want to work on these areas:

